EasyMed Share Consolidation and Name Change

TORONTO – October 18, 2013 - EasyMed Services Inc.. (CNSX: EZM) (the "Company" or "EasyMed "), announces that, at its annual and special general meeting held on August 15, 2013, shareholders approved the consolidation of the Company's issued and outstanding common shares at a ratio of 5 old shares for 1 new share (the “Share Consolidation”). In conjunction with the Share Consolidation, effective as of Friday, October 18, 2013, EasyMed Services Inc. has changed its name to EasyMed Technologies Inc. to better reflect the nature of its business.

As of the opening of trading on October 21, 2013, the Company's share capital will begin trading on a post-consolidated basis under the same stock symbol: EZM. EasyMed 's transfer agent, Computershare, will be mailing letters of transmittal to registered shareholders. The letter of transmittal describes the process by which shareholders may obtain new certificates representing their consolidated common shares. Shareholders who hold their shares through a broker or other intermediary and do not have shares registered in their name will not need to complete a letter of transmittal. No fractional shares will be issued under the share consolidation, and any fraction will be rounded to the nearest whole number. Following the consolidation, EasyMed will have 6,513,287 common shares issued and outstanding. All outstanding options of the Company will be adjusted accordingly to reflect the share consolidation.

The directors believe the share consolidation will put the Company in a better position to finance its research and development activities. For further information please contact Jared Scharf.
