

EViTRADE Names Clean-Tech Pioneer Dr. Macarena Cataldo-Hernández to Scientific Advisory Board

VANCOUVER, BC, March 14, 2019 – EViTRADE Health Systems Corp. (CSE: EVA, OTCQB: EVAHF) (the “Company”) is pleased to announce the appointment of Dr. Cataldo-Hernández to its Scientific Advisory Board.

Dr. Macarena A. Cataldo-Hernández has a PhD in chemical engineering from the Polytechnic University of Turin in Italy. Dr. Cataldo-Hernandez conducted ground-breaking Postdoctoral research at the University of British Columbia, pioneering the development of cutting-edge technology to clean and purify toxins and pollutants from contaminated drinking-water. With an extensive record of peer-reviewed publications and pending patents, Dr. Cataldo-Hernandez is now using her extensive knowledge towards “green” industrial processes and applications. She works with companies ranging from oil and gas to medical cannabis, helping to scale their extraction, and technology from the lab to the field, in an eco-friendly and sustainable manner. In addition, Dr. Cataldo-Hernandez is also an adjunct professor at the Pontifical Catholic University of Valparaiso, where she teaches and supervises the next generation of “green” process engineers. She is also on the Board of Directors for Vancouver Coop Radio and is co-host on the Cannabis Science Podcast.

Management believes that the Company is fortunate to have someone with Dr. Cataldo-Hernandez’s knowledge and experience, as a scientific advisor to draw upon for chemical extraction and purification processes at a commercial scale to deliver improved health products, services and systems.

Management continues its commitment to elevate the human condition through advanced medical technology solutions for effective health, wellness research, and products.
