Yummy Bear Goods Inc. Expands Product Line and Expands its Business to a Complete Better-For-You Confectionery Company

VANCOUVER, BC, December 7, 2021, Yummy Bear Goods Inc., (CSE: YUMMY) ("Yummy Bear" or the "Company") an affordable "Better for You" low sugar plant-based confectionery company, is pleased to announce the expansion of its confectionery product line beyond gummy products to become an all-encompassing confectionery company.

Yummy Bear expanded product line will include lollipops, chews, and hard candy logs. This will be the Company's first foray into these popular categories. The Company will be creating these products through partnerships with well-known research and development teams in the confectionery space with over 90 years of experience. The products will be an improvement on current products in the market carrying less sugar and less calories than its competitors. The Company will initially pilot 200,000lbs of products targeting to be ready for large scale distribution as the Company anticipates strong demand. The candies will be free from sugar alcohols, added sugars, and artificial sweeteners.

"We are excited to finally expand our product line into hard candies and chews. We've had a tremendous amount of success with our gummies over the last few months so we have decided to expand our product line to meet the significant number of requests for hard candies. We feel by adding additional SKUs to our company we will significantly increase our revenue. When we launched Yummy Bear, we knew it was our overall goal to expand our company to all candies as the movement of health and nutrition continues to grow. In the coming year, we look to take market share of all significant confectionery products," states Erica Williams, CEO of the Company.

The Company would also like to announce it is undergoing the process of changing its name to The Yummy Candy Company Inc.
