Nextleaf Comments on Financial Results from Q3 Financials

Charles Ackerman, Chief Financial Officer of Nextleaf, said: "Over the last six months, we've seen pricing in the bulk concentrate market start to normalize and remain more consistent. We see this as a leading indicator the market is starting to find equilibrium. As our B2B revenue continues to trend up, we are excited at the prospect that we're really just getting started with our existing client base, of which represent multiple global cannabis companies with leading product SKUs in Canada and existing footholds in the United States."

Ackerman continued, "With our provincial sales channel coming online in September, we look forward to further diversifying our revenue base, to help drive efficient production and move us toward consistent monthly profitability. With our facility that is heavily automated, with the additional utilization, and revenue potential from B2C sales it should help us reach that goal this year."

Details of the input and calculation errors can be found in the notes and discussions to the June 30, 2021 financial statements and management discussion and analysis filed on August 31, 2021 (collectively, the "Restated Financial Reports"). A copy of the Company's Restated Financial Reports may be viewed on the Company's SEDAR profile at www.sedar.com. The Restated Financial Reports replace and supersede the related previously filed financial statements and accompanying management's discussion and analysis, and as such should be disregarded.
