

EV Battery Tech Provides Update on Daymak Avvenire Campaign Powered by IoniX Pro Batteries

72 hours into the Daymak Avvenire Product Launch, Total Pre-Orders Surpass Expectations

Vancouver, B.C, March 26, 2021 - Extreme Vehicle Battery Technologies Corp. (the “Company” or “EV Battery Tech”) (CSE: ACDC) is pleased to announce that its partner, Daymak International Inc. (“Daymak”), has begun accepting pre-orders for its new Avvenire Products.

All of the Daymak Avvenire products are expected to be equipped with customized IoniX Pro Lithium-Ion battery packs, which will be equipped with EV Battery Tech’s patented and AI powered battery management system (BMS). Daymak estimates that over 30% of its production cost will be in the battery and BMS systems from by IoniX Pro.

All retail pre-orders are potential sales and require a minimum deposit² and distributor pre-orders require a letter of interest. All deposits are non-refundable.

“We are extremely pleased with the numbers we have seen in the first 3 days of pre-orders but fully believe we have just started scratching the surface as far as the total number of pre-orders go,” said Aldo Baiocchi President of Daymak.

Daymak is already Canada’s largest Light Electric Vehicle (LEV) distributor, with one of the largest distribution networks in North America which includes Walmart, Costco, TSC, QVC, Best Buy, Hudson’s Bay plus a network of 150 dealers across Canada and the USA. Daymak also has showrooms in Los Angeles, California, Toronto, Ontario, and Rome, Italy with more expected in the future.

“In the first quarter of 2021 we primarily focused on bringing state of the art ESS products to the market,” said Robert Abenante, IoniX Pro Chief Innovation Officer. “We are now ready to shift our focus to these custom battery packs for Daymak’s impressive line of Avvenire Products.”

The Flagship Electric Vehicle from Daymak is expected to hit the streets in 2023 according to Daymak.

“We are beyond excited to see these beautifully crafted EVs on the street in the near future and we know every ride in one of your vehicles will be a memorable one.” concluded Mr. Baiocchi.
