ALLIANCE GROWERS IN TALKS TO DEVELOP EXTRACTION FACILITY

May 24, 2019 – Vancouver, BC – Alliance Growers Corp. (CSE: ACG; FWB:1LA; OTCQB: ALGWF) (“Alliance Growers” or “the Company”) is pleased to report that management is in advanced discussions to jointly develop a hemp CBD extraction and distillation facility in Phase One of the Mont Royal properties. Obtaining licensing with hemp, is expected to be a much faster process than a cannabis cultivation license.

Development and distribution of CBD for medical and recreational purposes is an important part of the Company’s business plan. Alliance has multiple distribution options, one significant option being via joint ventures through privately owned pharmacies in BC and Alberta.

Commenting on development of the extraction facility, Dennis Petke, President and CEO of Alliance Growers stated, “The landscape regarding Canadian cannabis investors has evolved over the last few months, whereby investors are looking beyond companies that are primarily involved in cannabis cultivation. Alliance is working to demonstrate to investors that we are a diversified global medical cannabis company, and not merely a cultivation company. While we await completion of the Cannabis Biotech Tissue Culture Facility utilizing the proprietary “Chibafreen Invitro Plant Production System”, jointly developing an extraction facility in Quebec in an existing building will get Alliance to sales within a few months, rather than a year or more. Management continues to work diligently to create a global cannabis company that is establishing a long-term presence in the cannabis industry through diversity, science and technology. We thank our many loyal shareholders for their support and patience as we navigate the volatile cannabis market, creating value for all Alliance stakeholders.”
