FansUnite Acquisition Target, Askott Entertainment Announces Completion of its Second Casino Style Game

Vancouver, British Columbia, Sliema, Malta, July 27, 2020 - FansUnite Entertainment Inc. (CSE: FANS) (OTC: FUNFF), ("FansUnite" or the "Company"), a technology company providing leading online gaming solutions, is pleased to announce acquisition target Askott Entertainment Inc. ("Askott") has completed its second video game themed casino game 'Crash Heist'. After the successful launch of 'Loothunter', Askott is ready to offer its second game in what will be a series of video game and esports themed casino games for online sportsbooks and casinos to offer.

RNG/casino games represent a large piece of the online real money gaming industry. Many sportsbooks offer casino games and with the recent COVID-19 pandemic, the importance of having such games has been magnified. Askott is developing games that will appeal to a broader target market that includes a growing younger demographic along with traditional gamers.

"We currently offer a betting solution for esports books and wanted to add RNG casino games to round out our partners' betting offering to their customers," said Scott Burton, CEO of Askott Entertainment. "These additional offerings will result in more engagement from bettors and higher retention on our platforms. Without the need for live esports events, these games can be played 24/7 by our players allowing for more consistent betting and predictable revenue."

"As a leading developer of casino style games, we have now developed two games that can be leveraged on various platforms. Our partners will now be able to access our full suite of games, and other operators can license these games as stand alone products for their customers."

The Askott suite of games will be a mix of pure chance games in addition to games that will combine some skill elements. 'Loothunter' was modeled on the popular loot case concept used in video games whereby you buy a key for a case and hope to get an item/reward greater than the price of the key. The game also allows you to earn key fragments for free to build out a key.

The Crash Heist concept has the users breaking into a bank vault for an entry fee of their choice. Once in the vault, their money rises steadily until they exit. If they get out of the vault before the police arrive, the money is theirs, if not they crash out.

“We look forward to our stage of growth with Askott games where we will target casino aggregator partners that serve as an additional channel to leverage and distribute our games to a much broader audience,” continued Scott Burton.

All of the games are built on our own certified and tested random number generator with provably fair elements built in and adhering to the gaming jurisdictions where our partners have licenses.
