January 23, 2018 Vancouver, British Columbia, FanDom Sports Media Corp. (CSE: FDM) (OTC: FDMSF) (FRANKFURT: TQ42) (“FanDom Sports” or the “Company”) announced today that in conjunction with the closing of a private placement financing (as per the press release dated January 18, 2018), the Company has started work on Blockchain technology integration into their FanDom Sports app “argument engine”.

In building out an extension of the Company’s current technology team, work has commenced on architectural design and coding of the alpha version of the solution, to be built through the Blockchain framework “HyperLedger Fabric”, which is supported by IBM. As FanDom Sports’ measurement of fan engagement is confirmed by the overlaying of win-loss record, FanCoin accumulation total, time within the app, along with amount of dollars spent on in-app purchase, the Company will secure the integrity of the users engagement value from their “fan player card”.

“With our aim to change the way fans interact by providing a platform that initiates them to be actively involved rather than the traditional, passive consumption of sports, we have created a first of its kind mobile platform which offers structured debate resolution as a tool for true sports fan engagement”, states CEO Henri Holm. “Blockchain framework inclusion into the FanDom Sports app presents an innovative solution that mitigates the operational risks associated with FanFight manipulation, FanCoin tampering, and the placing of micro-bets. Hyperledger Fabric technology presents mechanisms for maintaining the integrity of our debate resolution system. This relevant technology integration makes the ecosystem transparent and enhances automation resulting in the overall increase in the trust and efficiency between parties.”

FanDom Sports Media & HyperLedger Fabric:

This “distributed ledger” will make all FanDom Sports app transactions both immutable and public to users interacting within the ecosystem. As part of its design and ability to process up to 100,000 transactions per second, this advances the Company’s position over competitors. Strategically, the technology choice leaves an option open in the event that the apps internal virtual currency (FanCoins) transition to an external currency for international exchange. This can occur through the implementation of nodes, which operate in various geographical regions.

Additionally, the Company has initiated a search for two (2) internationally focused directors to round out the FanDom Sports Media Board of Directors. As part of the evergreen list criteria there will be a strong emphasis on filling board seats with digitally savvy individuals from the sports management, fin-tech and social media industries.

January 25, 2018 Vancouver, British Columbia FanDom Sports Media Corp. (CSE: FDM) (OTC: FDMSF) (FRANKFURT: TQ42) (“FanDom Sports” or the “Company”) announces that they have secured former Pro Bowler and back-to-back NFL Super Bowl Champion Byron Chamberlain as a company Brand Ambassador. Mr. Chamberlain’s initial role will be to assist in supplying custom content, while activating his social media following and expanding FanDom Sports Media’s professional athlete on-boarding initiatives.

Drafted by the Denver Broncos in the seventh round, out of Wayne State College, Byron went on to play for the Broncos, Minnesota Vikings and Washington Redskins. Since retiring from the NFL, Mr. Chamberlain has remained actively involved within the football world by focusing on coaching and global ambassador roles.

Byron Chamberlain has become a figure within U.S. Football, focused on growing the game throughout various parts of the world. He founded a company called Pro Day Experience, specializing in football camps for youths and is promoting the game with his partners at the American Football Union & American Football Development in order to introduce American style football to colleges internationally and specifically across China and the United Kingdom.

FanDom Sports CEO Henri Holm stated that, “Bringing someone like Byron onboard, with his understanding of the growth opportunity for American football on the international stage, completely synergizes with the attitude of our company. Having the network and expertise of being a former Vice President of the NFL Alumni Southern California Chapter, working with him greatly enhances our strategy to engage partners who have global ambitions and see the void that our app will fill for an underserved digital sports media market”.

As a form of compensation in conjunction with the engagement agreement, the Company has granted 150,000 incentive share purchase options at an exercise price of $0.345 per share with a five (5) -year term, expiring on January 16th, 2023. The Options shall vest and become exercisable by the Optionee immediately.

The Company has granted additional share purchase options to various non-management consultants with the identical terms as Mr. Chamberlain's issuance for a grand total 1,775,000 Options ranging from $0.30 to $0.345.

As per FanDom Sports Media's January 23rd press release pertaining to the internationally focused and digitally savvy Board of Directors search, the Company would like to announce the stepping down of current Directors Blair Naughty and Jeff Hunt. The Company would like to thank them for their role in the initial phases of the organizations development. In conjunction with the opening of a seat on the Board of Directors, current company Chief Operating Officer Allen Ezer, will be the sole management representative placed on the Board. His appointment by way of resolution takes place with immediate effect.
