16. Discuss any trends which are likely to impact the Issuer including trends in the Issuer's market(s) or political/regulatory trends.

Resource exploration and development is a speculative business and involves a high degree of risk, including, among other things, unprofitable efforts resulting not only from the failure to discover mineral deposits but from finding mineral deposits which, though present, are insufficient in size to return a profit from production. The marketability of natural resources that may be acquired or discovered by the Issuer will be affected by numerous factors beyond the control of the Issuer. These factors include market fluctuations, the proximity and capacity of natural resource markets, government regulations. The exact effect of these factors cannot be accurately predicted, but the combination of these factors may result in the Issuer not receiving an adequate return on invested capital. The great majority of exploration projects do not result in the discovery of commercially mineable deposits of ore. Even if commercial quantities of mineral deposits are discovered by the Issuer, there is no guarantee that a profitable market will exist for the sale of the metals produced.

The development of the Company's properties will depend upon the Issuer's ability to obtain financing through the joint venturing of projects, private placement financing, public financing or other means. There can be no assurance that the Issuer will be successful in obtaining the required financing.
