“We are pleased that the 2017 estimates provided upon acquisition have not only been proven, but exceeded our expectations,” says William Gildea, Future Farm’s CEO and Chairman. “We expect that revenue in 2018 will be even higher, thanks to both the improvements that have been implemented by the Company and the strength and dedication of the White Sands team.”

The Company is also exploring the possibility of growing hemp on farmland also acquired as part of the White Sands transaction.
