16. Discuss any trends which are likely to impact the Issuer including trends in the Issuer's market(s) or political/regulatory trends.
- a. All of the properties on which the Issuer owns or on which the Issuer has an option to earn an interest are currently in the exploration stage only and are without known bodies of commercial ore or minerals. Development of the any of the properties will only follow upon obtaining satisfactory results of property assessment.
 - b. Mineral exploration and development involves a high degree of risk and few properties which are explored are ultimately developed into producing mines. There is no assurance that the Issuer's exploration and development activities will result in any discoveries of commercial bodies or ore or minerals. The long-term profitability of the Issuer's operations will be in part directly related to the cost and success of its exploration and subsequent evaluation programs, which may be affected by a number of factors. These include the particular attributes of the mineral deposit including the quantity and quality of the ore, proximity to or cost to develop infrastructure for extraction, financing costs, mineral prices and the competitive nature of the industry.
 - c. Governmental regulations including those relating to prices, taxes, royalties, land tenure and use, the environment and the importing and exporting of minerals are of key importance to the Issuer. The effects of these factors cannot be accurately predicted, but any combination of them may result in the Issuer not receiving an adequate return on invested capital.
 - d. Substantial expenditures are also required to establish reserves, to develop processes to extract the resources and, in the case of new properties, to develop the extraction and processing facilities and infrastructure at any site chosen for extraction. In the absence of cash flow from operations, the Issuer relies on capital markets and joint venture partners to fund its exploration and evaluation activities. There can be no assurance that adequate funding will be available for these purposes when required.
