

FogChain Provides Status Update on Their Recent Acquisition of Quilmont Solutions

Friday, September 14, 2018 9:00 AM EST

Vancouver, Canada and San Carlos, California (OTCQB:FOGCF; CSE:FOG; FWB:MUU3) FogChain Corp. ("FogChain" or the "Company") is pleased to announce recent updates and news regarding its recent acquisition of Quilmont Solutions, Inc. ("Quilmont"), which was completed on August 31, 2018.

FogChain, a next-generation fully integrated software development, testing and deployment platform, provides developers with a suite of rapid development tools and resources for the creation of apps, smart contracts, mobile apps and decentralized apps (dApps). FogChain recently acquired Quilmont which is a growing and profitable software development solutions provider specializing in automated testing, Continuous Integration and Deployment (CI/CD), mobile and website development, and software quality assurance.

The latest progress and updates coming from Quilmont are quite substantial, especially given the short amount of time since the acquisition. First and foremost, Quilmont is getting ready to release the latest version of its patented Test Case Manager platform, which is an enterprise-grade, automated application testing product, utilized across mobile, web, and desktop applications. Additionally, Quilmont is working fervently on a configurable CI/CD environment for streamlining the development of mobile applications. The client list continues to grow with the addition of two new government agency support projects and ongoing talks with fortune 100 companies in the finance and automotive industries. Furthermore, planning and integration is already underway with FogChain's rapid application development platform, RadJav, to create a seamless end-to-end development, testing and deployment solution to serve enterprises and developers alike.

Patrick Quilter, the president and founder of Quilmont, stated, "Working with Fogchain and the resources they've connected us with has been a fantastic experience for our team, and is already producing great benefits for the company in terms of the potential clientele we can get in front of and serve. Integrating with FogChain is already producing significant value and we're very excited about what's in store for the months and years ahead."

FogChain CEO, James Cerna commented, "We strongly believe the future of software development and testing is based upon a new paradigm of creating not only a platform that spans all devices and operating systems, but also has a fully integrated and automated end-to-end testing and quality assurance solution that's cost effective. Bringing Quilmont into FogChain has already created incredible synergies and new client opportunities for us, and we could not be happier with how things are working so far."
