Scio, Oregon Hemp Project – Covered Bridge Acres (CBA)

Revenue from Farm Operations in Scio, Oregon

On August 9, 2019 the Company announced (http://bit.ly/GHG Update) that it had begun generating revenue through its JV hemp farm in Scio, Oregon. To date Covered Bridge Acres (CBA), in its first year of operations, has had gross sales through a combination of the sales of raw biomass, plantlets, CBD crude oil and CBD distillate that was produced from various processing test runs, along with other farm operations in the amount of US$525,500 (approx. CDN$695,000). The most recent transaction on August 6th was the sale of 10,000 pounds of shucked biomass that was sold to an Oregon extraction facility for $400,000 (U.S.) (approximately $530,000).

The CBA team is currently working with a number of parties to complete the sale of its remaining biomass inventory. In addition, approximately 4,000 lb of unshucked biomass is currently out for processing into distillate. Once processed, it will be sold along with other distillate inventory on hand. With all planting activities now complete, the CBA team has turned its attention to planning for the fall harvest.

Farm Operations

The 2019 growing season is well underway, with harvest expected to begin in early October. This year, having improved, more-stable genetics, higher CBD yields are expected from the cultivars planted, making it ideal for the smokable hemp flower market. This is a rapidly growing market where current prices to the farm are multiple times higher than for CBD biomass for extraction.

Harvest - In preparation for the handling of this year's harvest, the CBA team has designed a shucking machine to remove the flowers and leaves from the stalk and stems, greatly reducing the amount of labour required for this initial processing of the hemp. The team is now in the process of fabricating a prototype and have reserved a small amount of biomass from last year's harvest to test the equipment. Once shucked, the biomass will be sold or processed into crude oil or distillate for sale on the open market.

New Brunswick, Canada Hemp Project

The Company intends to concentrate its future activities in State of Oregon where the Company's Joint Venture hemp farm is located. Currently the financial opportunities are markedly greater in the United States since hemp was legalized federally with the passing of the 2018 Farm Bill in December. Coupled with the availability of cultivars with significantly greater CBD content, an abundance of readily accessible processing infrastructure in the region, an advanced regulatory and legislative environment and a more developed marketplace for CBD and CBD related products, Management will be focusing its attention on its Scio, Oregon project going forward.

Development of a Hemp Biocomposite Drone for Commercial Agricultural Monitoring with Q Worx LLC ("QWorx")

Work continues on the "Field Agent", the world's first commercial hemp biocomposite (H-Fiber) drone specifically designed to monitor large scale

cultivations, initially focusing on hemp. Qworx has recently made a number of enhancements to the drone from its continued R&D, including replacing the propellers on the drone with Electric Ducted Fans (EDF's).

QWorx expects to deliver the working prototype to the Company's JV hemp farm in Scio, Oregon in mid September to begin beta testing. Upon successful completion of the on-farm testing, GHG and QWorx will explore manufacturing and marketing of the Field Agent.
