- Capital asset purchases totaling $639,827 for the year including $366,314 for a LIDAR sensor and $215,157 allocated to UAV’s and equipment.

Results for Q4 2018 performed within our expectations for revenue and demonstrated overall positive annual growth in client base, revenue and geographic distribution of our services division.

During the same period, the Company invested significant capital into the engineering and development division, NOVAerial Robotics Inc., (“NOVAerial”) which completed substantial progress on the Procyon Program. The expenditures also included the purchase of sensors, drones and specialized equipment for the services division.

The Company is now transitioning NOVAerial to support the next steps of marketing and production for the Procyon helicopter UAV while reducing the expenditures on engineering and development.

Global UAV worked diligently during this period to advance and streamline the integration of all business units. While this will continue for some time, significant progress was made during this year and included several cost reduction measures. Included in this was the restructuring and consolidation of accounting, legal and management of already operating businesses as well as advancements at the corporate level. The changes focused on increasing operational efficiencies, expansion of client base and revenue and reduction in expenditures.

Currently the focus of management is on further reduction of expenditures while increasing the revenue from services and product sales divisions to work toward building a profitable company. As a result, management has implemented many, company-wide cost-cutting measures and controls which will be realized in both the short and long term. The reduction in costs will be an ongoing process through the next several quarters.
