About Circadian Group

As a true pioneer in their field, Circadian Group uses a comprehensive and integrated suite of online “pull” strategies to showcase a client’s value proposition and future prospects in an engaging format-- this is in contrast to the traditional sense of the term “IR” where Investor interest is anticipated versus cultivated. Circadian prides itself on working with select small cap companies in the latter stages of early growth, which are working toward a near-term transformational catalyst to bolster an already distinguished track record of uncovering successful companies before Wall Street and the mainstream media.
