

Kontrol Energy enhances existing software platform to improve Air Quality for Buildings

TORONTO, April 2nd, 2020 / ACCESSWIRE - Kontrol Energy Corp. (CSE: KNR, OTCQB: KNRLF, FSE:1K8) ("Kontrol" or "Company") a leader in the energy efficiency sector through IoT, Cloud and SaaS technology is pleased to announce that based on customer demand, in relation to ongoing COVID-19 concerns, it is providing enhanced real-time air quality monitoring and improvement for multi-residential buildings.

Using its existing SmartSite® software platform Kontrol can integrate with existing legacy building automation systems (BAS) to optimize overall air quality, ventilation rates and corresponding energy consumption.

"We are responding to an increase in customer demand to assist with overall improved ventilation and air quality in addressing the needs of the multi-residential sector," says Paul Ghezzi, CEO Kontrol Energy. "With the requirement for isolation and self-quarantine multi-residential buildings are facing unique challenges that come with full occupancy and more demand on existing building equipment."

Kontrol SmartSite® is a building energy software technology designed to assist in the operation and management of complex heating, ventilation and cooling systems for large multi-residential, commercial, and mission critical buildings. Kontrol SmartSite® operates as a Software as a Service (SaaS) platform and is highly scalable. SmartSite® currently operates in more than 20 Million square feet of real estate.
