LIBERTY HEALTH SCIENCES EARNS GMP CERTIFICATION FOR GREENHOUSE AND PRODUCTION FACILITIES

Good Manufacturing Practice certification reinforces high company standards for product safety, consistency and quality

TORONTO, ON; June 25, 2018 – Liberty Health Sciences Inc. (CSE: LHS) (OTCQX: LHSIF) (“Liberty” or the “Company”) today announced it has received Good Manufacturing Practice (“GMP”) approval from SAI Global for the Company’s greenhouse and production facilities in Alachua County, Florida. The GMP certificate was earned in advance of Liberty’s July 5th deadline for its processing facilities, confirming the site’s compliance with FDA’s food safety and packaging GMPs.

“The Good Manufacturing Practice certification is another testament to our commitment to excellence and precision dosing of cannabis products,” said CEO George Scorsis. “We strive to set the bar for safety, quality and consistency as we expand in response to the rapidly growing need in the emerging cannabis industry. It is a great honor and a privilege to receive a GMP certification compliant to the FDA standard that validates all the exhaustive work our team has done to ensure Liberty products are the very best.”

“In anticipation of expected state approval of edibles, we have built an all-encompassing food safety plan which goes above and beyond regulatory requirements,” said Director of Compliance and Regulatory, Jessica Engle. “We want to give our consumers 100% confidence that the products they purchase are guaranteed safe and this certification reinforces that promise.”
