NEWS RELEASE

Cannvas Committed to Enhancing Cannabis Experience Through Technology Ancillary Cannabis Market Generates Significant Economic Benefit

Toronto, Ontario / July 6, 2018 – Cannvas MedTech Inc. (“Cannvas” or the “Company”) (CSE: MTEC), a leading business technology company within the cannabis health sciences space, is pleased to announce that it is committed to enhancing the medical and recreational cannabis health and wellness experience through advanced technology through an inventive online portal. The Company is launching a patient-centric life science learning platform that will allow users to interact on a global basis to research and gain valuable knowledge on how best to use cannabis to improve their own health and wellness.

“With cannabis gaining acceptance around the world we have an opportunity to make a difference for medical cannabis patients and recreational users,” said Steve Loutskou, Chief Operating Officer, Cannvas MedTech Inc. “There are many instances of cannabis having positive effects on a number of different ailments and diseases. Through our unbiased online platform, patients will be able to gain access to information in a safe and secure environment, and learn and educated themselves about how different strains can treat different ailments. We are building a powerful tool that can make a difference in the health and wellness world.”

Cannvas is taking an innovative approach to use advanced technology and data to augment the growth phenomenon experienced by the cannabis leaf markets. Cannabis market studies, conducted by Deloitte on Canada’s soon to be legal recreational market, predict that sales could reach as much as $7 billion in 2019, and revenue generated from future ancillary activities could boost the economic impact to more than triple that amount. By being first-to-market and harnessing the power of data and design to build customer-centric initiatives in the medical cannabis and health sciences sectors, the Cannvas is positioned for long term success.

Cannvas offers design and execution expertise across advanced technology, data aggregation and analysis, blockchain, and creative disciplines.
