Marapharm Ventures Inc. "Marapharm" is pleased to announce that it's one subsidiary, Maragold, which is a line of all natural products with raw essential oils, has been reformulated to blend hemp into the recipes. Maragold presently has 10 products including hair products, botanical extracts, essential oils and health cleansers. The new recipes will be produced in kitchens in British Columbia and Washington. Production has been moved to begin December 1, 2016. "The Maragold online store and other retailers will offer Maragold products as a healthy and nourishing alternative to mainstream products" says Linda Sampson, CEO. She continued "The health and wellness space does billions of dollars in sales each year. Maragold will be part of that, and with hemp in the recipes is a great synergy. The launch had been delayed because we have been extremely busy with our marijuana businesses and facilities in Nevada and Washington. We are contacted with many opportunities in the space, which we appreciate as we are looking always to expand. New team members and completed projects have freed up some time to allow for attention to Maragold. There are many Maragold orders to fill and we are excited to get going."
