Report on Business

1. Provide a general overview and discussion of the development of the Issuer’s business and operations over the previous month. Where the Issuer was inactive disclose this fact.

The work to integrate the Jinxiaoer platform to the Cubeler Lending Hub was given high priority during the period. Jinxiaoer operated as a stand-alone platform during the period, but the Issuer expects that its true potential will only be realized once it’s been integrated to the Cubeler Lending Hub. At that time, the leads it generates through its network of loan brokers, broker-affiliated sales reps and independent sales reps will be the main transaction drivers on the Lending Hub. While Jinxiaoer will drive clients and loan requests to the Hub, the Cubeler AI and analytics engine will ensure the loan requests are efficiently matched with the appropriate banks and lenders to maximize the rate of transactions and the transaction volume on the Hub.

The adaptation of the Gold River platform to facilitate supply-chain related transactions (Gold River 2.0) and the subsequent integration of Gold River 2.0 to the Cubeler Lending Hub was also made a priority. The Issuer expects to begin a pilot project of Gold River 2.0 as an independent platform in March 2020, while the integration of Gold River 2.0 to the Lending Hub would follow shortly thereafter.

Once the integration of Jinxiaoer and Gold River 2.0 are completed, the Cubeler Lending Hub will be comprised of 3 technology platforms (see figure 1 below), 6 Peak subsidiaries which will include the 3 platform managers (ASDS: Cubeler Lending Hub; AST: Gold River 2.0; and Jinxiaoer: Jinxiaoer) - (see figure 2 below), and various participants of China’s commercial lending industry (see figure 3 below).

In a continuous effort to expand its Lending Hub, the Issuer's ASSC subsidiary began talks with the Jiangyin municipal government and some high-profile local lenders to create an association of lenders who specialize in lending to supply-chain participants. Association members would have access to Cubeler Lending Hub and have loans they make guaranteed by the association's insurance partners. ASSC is also in talks with a handful of insurance companies that have shown interest in partnering with the future supply-chain lending association.

2. Provide a general overview and discussion of the activities of management.

The Issuer's management spent a good portion of the period on the adjustment of the Jinxiaoer business model and to fully assess the future financial and operational impact of the loan brokerage platform on the Issuer's operations. That exercise was a key element in allowing management to complete and release the Issuer's financial forecasts for the next two to three years. Management met with existing and potential Jinxiaoer clients and partners to discuss intended changes to the Jinxiaoer business model and to validate certain assumptions related to the model. With the satisfactory conclusion to the process, the Issuer's management was poised at the end of the period to release an updated version of the Issuer's financial forecast.

The Issuer's management also addressed the need to bring new investors to the Issuer by hiring Mackie Research Capital Corp. ("Mackie") as its capital markets financial advisor. The Issuer's management and Mackie took time during the period to work on a strategic plan to enhance the Issuer's profile among certain groups of investors and to give it access to the resources it needs to scale its operations and take advantage of growth opportunities.
