Malartic West

Brief work at the property in August, which included some sampling at the Beupre copper showing, yielded an additional grab sample high value of 3.59% Cu and 6.62 g/t Ag, in addition to other sample results previously announced obtained over the 60m exposure at Beupre. This copper showing is a discovery program, with no prior work and little geophysical coverage. During October, Renforth was in the field prospecting and trenching, searching for extensions to this occurrence. In addition to field work Renforth is pursuing data acquisition, this includes a LWIR (longwave infrared) study obtained from Japanese ASTER satellite imagery interpreted by DIRT Exploration of South Africa. While this data is coarse (90m resolution) a chalcopyrite anomaly co-incident with the Beupre showing registers, this ~1km long anomaly is the initial prospecting target.

Mineral Resource Estimate Updates At New Alger - the drill and surface exploration data has been used to create a 3d model, with wireframe solids created which define the veins drilled at New Alger to date. Based upon the grades contained within the solids the software program calculated and constructed a block model, with each block having a metal value. This block model is being run through a pit optimization software package by P&E Mining Consultants Inc., the end result of which will be a Mineral Resource Estimate expressed as “pit constrained” and “outside of pit” mineralization. Renforth looks forward to receipt of all of this information and will publish it in due course. At Parbec the Mineral Resource Estimate update is also proceeding, the 3d model has been built with the drill and surface exploration data, the process of wireframing to create solids has begun. While not as far along in the process as New Alger, Parbec is also proceeding smoothly and will also be released once available.
