

St-Georges' subsidiary, ZeU Crypto Networks, Appoints Chief Architect.

-FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE-

Montreal, May 24, 2018 – St-Georges Eco-Mining Corp. (CSE: SX) (OTC: SXOOF) (FSE: 85G1) is pleased to announce that its subsidiary ZeU Crypto Networks Inc. has appointed Oliver Qian as Chief Architect. While serving as Chief Architect at ZTE Corporation since 2011, Mr. Qian led the 3,000-person CTO development department that was responsible for Cloud Computing, Data Platform and Mobile Internet platform projects. During his tenure at ZTE he led the blockchain development team that implemented multi-chain smart contracts enabling two end users to use each other's data without acquiring the data. The blockchain is now in use in ZTE's supply chain financial services, as well as, Nanjing City for government certificate verification and exchange.

Prior to his tenure at ZTE, Mr. Qian served as a Director of Alibaba.com where he led a 200-person development team that was responsible for Alibaba's technology platform. His key developments include the first generation of Alibaba's distributed database middleware and a distributed micro service framework called Dubbo that was one of the most successful open source micro service frameworks in China.

Frank Dumas, President & Interim CEO of ZeU Crypto Networks stated "The appointment of Mr. Qian is a major first milestone for ZeU and serves as high level validation of both the quality of our blockchain technology and its capabilities. We look forward to watching him lead our current team of great developers towards building world class products."
