ePlay provides corporate update on Howie's Games, Fan Freak, and New Titles
Bill C218 is a significant catalyst for the Company and Fan Freak

ePlay Digital Inc. (CSE:EPY | OTC:EPYFF | FSE:2NY2) (the “Company”) today announced a corporate update for Howie’s Games, Fan Freak, and new titles including preliminary development and marketing results. ePlay also announces that the Company has begun iOS front-end and universal back-end development of the Fan Freak Wallet to handle deposit and withdrawal of funds used to play the game. This is the final phase of development prior to testing daily fantasy, pick sheet, streak and other games that make up the Fan Freak title. The Company is thrilled to see the progress of new Canadian legislation (Bill C-218) related to single-game sports betting and considers these legislative advancements and the upcoming release of Fan Freak to be a major catalyst for the Company.

The company is also 60-days into the launch of marketing for some of the 11 existing titles in Google Play and Apple App Store. This resulted in over 50,000 installs, top 100 Sports app rankings in eight countries, and top 100 Family app rankings in four countries.

“Further expansion of our marketing program will continue as we scale early successes,” says Trevor Doerksen, CEO of ePlay Digital. “In addition, we look forward to replicating the development and marketing success from the last 60 days for new titles and franchises such as Fan Freak and Klocked.”

Selected apps for the April 2021 marketing launch included titles from Howie Mandel’s mobile game franchise and the early access program for the Klocked running app. The Klocked early access program resulted in 2,000 sign-ups in less than 2-weeks and now some of those users will start to receive their invites to download beta versions of Klocked following Apple approval.

The company also submitted two new titles to Google Play Store and Apple for App Store for approval. More details on these new titles will be announced upon app approvals.
