The Company began a retail roadshow to further the retail market penetration of the company's entire agricultural product line, including its patent pending biofertilizer Soil Activator product, registered by the Canadian Food Inspection Agency (CFIA) and Ecocert certified organic.

The Company attended and will attend major retail shows, including: Westland (October 8-9), Grouplex (October 21-22) and Groupe BMR (November 5-7).

On October 7, 2015 the Company announced that it is in the process of completing product registration for its patent-pending microbial biofertilizer in West Africa (ECOWAS – Economic Community of Western African States, 15 members) and South Africa (SADC – Southern African Development Community, also 15 members). This arduous and lengthy registration process is necessary for the commercialization of fertilizers and agricultural inputs in most countries worldwide, and the Company anticipates having product registration approval by early 2016. Once approved, the Company's agricultural inputs will be marketed and sold in Africa. The Soil Activator® product is already fully registered with the Canadian Food Inspection Agency (CFIA), and is also Ecocert certified organic.

On October 29, 2015 the Company reported positive results from Tek-Mac Enterprises Inc.'s ("Tek-Mac") recently completed trial of the Company's patent-pending, organic-compliant biofertilizer, Soil Activator™. Tek-Mac initiated the trial and conducted research on an organic farm in southwestern Ontario. Results from the trial demonstrated that soil in plots fertilized with a combination of Tek-Mac's fertilizer and Earth Alive's Soil Activator™ resulted in a 5% increase in corn yield compared to using Tek-Mac's product alone. Additionally, the product combination produced significantly higher mid-season soil nitrate levels, indicating the ability for the product to boost fertility in the soil and prolong the release of nitrogen through the growing season.
