Redrock Trading Partners, LLC signs Fee Agreement with JamJoc, Inc.

NEWS RELEASE

Redrock Trading Partners, LLC (Redrock), a United States FINRA broker dealer and ownership affiliated company of Armada Mercantile Ltd., has signed a fee agreement with JamJoc, Inc. (Client). The Client is seeking capital to launch a proprietary technology known as JamJoc.

Under the terms of the fee agreement, Redrock will act as an ‘introducing broker’ on behalf of the Client to introduce a funding partner. If these introductions result in a successful business transaction i.e., funds provided to the Client from a Redrock funding partner, the Client will pay Redrock an introducing fee based on the total funding amount of the transaction.

About the Client: JamJoc is a handheld electronic device that allows the user to play tones or music samples that are stored in various banks within the device. Additional samples may be downloaded from a dedicated website to add additional content to the device. The user triggers the tones or musical notes by pressing on individual keys. These sounds may be recorded within the device to create a song and later transfer the completed work to their computer. JamJoc is wireless and may be linked with other JamJoc devices to create a band-like environment.
