

Glenbriar retains Oriel Partners to review strategic alternatives

CALGARY, Alberta, June 14, 2005 . . . Glenbriar Technologies Inc. (CNQ:GBRT) today announced that it had retained Oriel Partners Ltda. to provide strategic planning, international business development and capital funding alternatives to address Glenbriar's 2006 expansion plans.

Glenbriar CEO Robert Matheson noted, "When Oriel first approached us, they were seeking to collaborate on software opportunities in the Brazilian and Latin American markets. After mutual exchanges of information, it became very evident that while there were some great opportunities, it would take some corporate change, financing and careful planning to take advantage of them. We have initiated the procedures to implement new strategies that will in turn leverage these opportunities for Glenbriar. The precise directions and potential from these initiatives will become evident as these strategies unfold."

"We are very excited by the potential to leverage Glenbriar's strengths," noted Ashley Porto, Executive Director of Oriel Partners. "They have achieved great success with minimal resources, and have created a platform that lends itself to rapid growth in the future. It is our job to help identify these new strategies and assist Glenbriar in achieving their overall growth potential both at home and in new markets abroad. Glenbriar's management is highly committed to this process, and has been very open and receptive to introducing the required changes to ensure that this growth takes place."
