About the Company

Qsolar is manufacturing solar PV panels under a contract manufacturing agreement in China using its proprietary patent pending Spraytek process and its own designs.

Qsolar products were introduced in July 2010 and since the introduction there has been a very significant interest, orders and letters of intent from the European market as well as the US market.

Qsolar Spraytek panels offer several advantages over competing products in that they have significantly lower losses in hot climates due to their design, offer superior solar cell encapsulation for better protection and longer life and cost less than equivalent products in the market. Furthermore Qsolar offers solar panels with positive tolerance which means that the customer will get a guaranteed output which can be up to 5% more than the actual specifications. This leads to further savings as competitive products are offered with tolerances of +-3% which means that they can have up to 3% lower output than what is specified.

Qsolar has started trading on the Canadian National Stock Exchange (CNSX) with the symbol QSL on March 25 2011 through a reverse take-over of Bricol Capital Corporation. For more information on Qsolar please view the Listing Statement on the CNSX website, www.cnsx.ca.
